Disqualification for doping reasons

Item: 4

IOC sanctions shot putter Irina Korzhanenko for failing anti-doping test

The International Olympic Committee (IOC) today announced that shot putter Irina Korzhanenko, Russian Federation, has been excluded from the Games for the XXVIII Olympiad in Athens in 2004 after failing an anti-doping test carried out by the IOC.

Korzhanenko, 30, tested positive on 18 August for stanozolol, a prohibited anabolic steroid, after the women's shot put event in Olympia where she won the gold medal. The IOC Executive Board this morning heard the report of the Disciplinary Commission and decided that Irina Korzhanenko

- is disqualified from the Women's shot put event, where she had placed first;
- shall have her gold medal and diploma withdrawn;
- is excluded from the Games of the XXVIII Olympiad in Athens 2004; and
- The International Association of Athletics Federation (IAAF) is requested to modify the results of the above-noted event accordingly and to consider any further action within its own competence.
- The Russian Olympic Committee is ordered to return to the IOC, as soon as possible, the medal and diploma awarded to the athlete in relation to the above-noted event.
- This decision shall enter into force immediately.

Under the IOC Anti-Doping Rules which are applicable in relation to the Athens Games, testing takes place under the IOC's auspices from 30 July to 29 August. Within this period, the IOC systematically performs tests pre and post events. After each event, the IOC systematically carries out tests on the top four athletes plus two at random.

So far, over 1,662 tests have been performed out for the 3,000 tests that the IOC is expected to conduct throughout the period of the Games.
